

Newsletter 2

Meet the faculty

Dear FPN student,

After the summer, you will be joining the Faculty of Psychology and Neuroscience. In this newsletter, we will inform you about some important groups/people that you will encounter once you get here.

Education Office

The Education Office is responsible for the organisation and coordination of all the education related activities within the Faculty. You will be in touch with them via the Service Desk, meet Vera, Diana, and Claire!

Academic Advisers

Academic advisers (also called 'study advisers') are - next to your mentor - the first ones to approach for information and advice about your studies. They can help you answer questions concerning, among others: study skills, lagging study results, personal circumstances, psychological or physical problems, motivation problems, study choices, (exam) facilities, combining two studies or combining studies with top sports.

But also if you have other questions about your studies, for example about the honours programme, extra electives or maybe a second study, the academic advisers are able to help you look at your options and what course would be most advisable.

MFA Placebo

MFA Placebo is the Maastricht Faculty Association of Psychology and Neuroscience. They organise educational and fun activities, travels and parties. Follow them on Instagram to learn more.

SPS-NIP

SPS NIP is the student section of the Dutch national professional association for psychologists. Throughout the year, several activities are organised by the national and regional boards. Follow them on Instagram to learn more.

How to get here

FPN is located right next to the Maastricht Randwyck train station, this will be your best point for coordination when traveling by train or bus. 9292.nl is a useful tool to calculate your best public transportation route to our faculty!
