

Dear student,

Please find below the programme for the Virtual Faculty Introduction Day on Thursday 27 August 2020 of the bachelor's programme European Public Health at the Faculty of Health, Medicine and Life Sciences.

The ins and outs of studying will be explained to you on this day. Like where you can find your TimeTable, who is your study advisor, what is the Student Portal and where can I find an overview of my credits and courses.

You will also get to know the study association and the 'places to be' around the Faculty of Health, Medicine and Life Sciences. Our student ambassadors will lead you so you will have nothing to worry about, and you can ask any questions you like.

You will receive a link to the live-stream in due time. Before the Virtual Faculty Introduction Day we will also send you a link to our online introduction platform, which will give you access to useful study-related information and the city of Maastricht.

Please note that the Virtual Faculty Introduction Day is mandatory for all students, because important information about your programme will be provided, which will help you with a good start of your programme.

Kind regards, The FHML Introduction Day Team
