

Welcome to De Bondt!

Our company was originally founded by Pieter de Bondt over almost 90 years ago. Now headed by great-grandson Peter de Bondt, what once started out as a small company with one small printing press in the shed of the back garden, has since grown into an all-around graphics service provider.

It is our mission to provide full service for our customers and completely eliminate any hassle for our clients when it comes to the manufacture and delivery of graphic products and/or services. Our service starts with consultation & design and continues all the way through to the delivery of the product to the end client.

We are well acquainted with the 'work activities' at your University and are also fortunate enough to be able to draw on our years of experience working with similar clients. Our customer portfolio includes many educational institutions such as Stenden Hogeschool, University of Leiden, Open Unjversiteit, Hogeschool Rotterdam, ROC Horizon College, Aeres Hogeschool, ROC Zadkine, and Summa College. In addition to educational institutions, we also provide our services to the Province of Limburg and the municipal authorities in Heerlen, Sittard-Geleen and the Shared Service Centre in Southern-Limburg.

One of our most important objectives is to keep the workload for graphic projects down to a minimum for our clients. How do we achieve this? The combination of multifaceted knowledge and years of experience in having all graphic disciplines under one roof promotes the flow of your project.

De Bondt has a straightforward organisational structure with short lines of communication. These short lines make it possible for the company to quickly switch gears and provide flexibility to our clients, which is an absolute necessity in the modern day.

We have 40 employees spread over different departments; secretarial, sales, pre-press, production, post-production, delivery, quality control, health & safety, sustainability, and management. The

Corporate social responsibility

Long-term relationships with our clients, suppliers, and employees are very important to us, which is why we are always searching for the right balance between the financial aspects of our business, in combination with social and environmental concerns. We hired a KAM (Quality, health & safety and sustainability) employee ten years ago and we pay close attention to performing socially responsible business practices within the company.

With an eye on sustainability, we have taken various measures to decrease our CO2 emissions; ranging from an environmentally friendly press to a heat recovery system, Led lighting in the production areas, translucent roof panels for natural lighting, electric cars and a charging station in the parking lot.

Social responsibility is also very important to us and it is company policy to keep our doors open to those who may have otherwise had difficulty entering the job market. Around 30% of our current employees have come to us via the UWV (Dutch unemployment centre) employer service point. These employees are those who, for various reasons, were unable to find work elsewhere. For example, people who were unemployed for long periods of time due to a physical or psychological disability, but also those who were in a vulnerable group due to their age.

Recognised as an internship training company, we give between 10-15 students the chance to carry out their internship at our company annually. A majority of the students are from the vocational graphics school, seeing as how this study fits perfectly with our work activities.

In addition, we also work together with schools for the blind and visually impaired, so these students are also given the chance to learn at our company. We currently have 4 students as interns who had been deemed 'difficult to place'.

The examples listed above are just some of the ways we perform social responsibility at De Bondt. As an employee of Maastricht University, please feel free to contact our KAM employee if you have any further questions.
