General requirements: previous education

The admission requirements for academic year 2023/24 for the master's programme International Laws depend on your previous education. Please check below which requirements apply to you.

International Laws is a selective master's programme and not a continuing master. You are not guaranteed admission by fulfilling the requirements. Students are selected on the basis of previously obtained degrees and grades, extracurricular experience, and language skills. The Board of Admissions may decide to directly admit outstanding students.

Graduates from selected relevant university bachelor's programmes

You qualify for admission to the master's programme International Laws if you have a Dutch university bachelor's degree in: European Law School, Dutch Law, or Tax law. You also qualify for admission if you have a non-Dutch university bachelor's degree in Law.

Additional requirements

Language requirements for English-language master programmes

All candidates are required to submit a language certificate (IELTS, TOEFL, or Cambridge) in order to prove their proficiency in academic English, except when they have previously completed a study programme in this language or have obtained a sufficient number of ECTS in English-taught courses.

Answer the questions below to find out if you meet the language requirements.

Do you hold a bachelor's or master's degree in which English was the sole language of instruction?

YesNoUndo

Applicants who received their previous education in a non-EU/EEA country (handling fee)

Applicants applying for this study programme who received their previous education in a non-EU/EEA country will have to pay a handling fee. More information on this handling fee and how to arrange this payment can be found on the Handling fee page.
